

Van Cleef wins baseball award

The American Baseball Coaches Association recently honored Dr. Raymond Van Cleef, vice president for educational and student services.

"That award was the culmination of a number of things in my life dealing with athletics," Van Cleef said.

ABCA is a national organization "primarily of college baseball coaches," Van Cleef said, and those who have been successful in society and the work world after leaving college athletics.

"Matt Bolger, a coach at Sul Ross State University, suggested my name to the ABCA board of directors, who took into consideration the records and accomplishments of all those who were recommended, then made their decision," Van Cleef said.

More than 400 people, primarily college baseball coaches, attended the awards luncheon at the Dallas Hyatt-Regency Hotel in conjunction with the National Collegiate Athletic Association meetings.

"They read a list of people who have received the award in the past. There were probably some 30 names called out, and though I don't remember all of them, a few stick out in my memory," Van Cleef said. "The first person to receive this award was Lou Gehrig." Eugene McCarthy and Vice President George Bush have also been recipients.

Van Cleef received a BS degree from Rutgers University in New Jersey and a master of education at Sul Ross State University in Alpine. He completed his doctor of education at the University of Wyoming.

Prior to serving in the Air Force during the Korean conflict, Van Cleef played professional baseball in Detroit.

"I was signed with the Tigers and played in their minor league system for one year before going into the Air Force," Van Cleef said. "I had pitched in college, but primarily became a centerfielder for the Tigers."

He then taught and coached baseball, and assisted in basketball and football at junior and senior high schools in the Dallas Independent School District.

Through 1957-62 Van Cleef coached baseball and basketball as well as serving as dean of student life and associate professor of education, dean of men and assistant professor at Sul Ross State University.

"From 1966-68, I spent two years with the State Department and the Agency for International Development as a consultant to the South Vietnamese government's ministry of education," Van Cleef said.

South Vietnam has a series of universities and teacher education colleges that had been established by the French, who has colonized that area, Van Cleef said.

"The French had an elitist approach to education that it was meant only for some people. Our government saw that for upward movement in society to exist, in order to democratize the country, higher education would have to be available to everyone," Van Cleef said.

By both establishing new schools and educating young men and women in the United States and then returning them to their own country, Van Cleef commented, the program greatly improved their quality of education.

Upon returning from Vietnam, which he eventually visited most of, Van Cleef served as dean of student development at Tarrant County Junior College, until 1975, when he was named their dean of instruction. He held that position for 12 years before coming to TJC last June.

"They said that the award I received was for accomplishments and contributions after leaving college athletics," Van Cleef said.

Auditions to be Monday

Students may try for parts in "Madame Butterfly" at 4 p.m. Monday. Auditions will be in Room 201 of the Wise Culture Center.

The opera will be performed Feb. 22 in Wise Auditorium.

The production is jointly sponsored by the University of Texas at Tyler and Tyler Junior College and produced by the Texas Opera Theater.

The auditions are for supernumeraries, non-speaking and non-singing roles.

Three women are needed, two with dark hair to play geishas, and one blonde to play an American. Two men are needed to play sailors.

Because they must wear costumes provided by the opera company, size will be important in selecting.

Details are available from Music Instructor Molly McCoy.

Rotarians offer grants

Two International Rotary Foundation Scholarships are available through the sponsorship of the Tyler Rotary Club. Students must apply by Tuesday.

The scholarships are intended for graduate or undergraduate students who can benefit from a year's study abroad.

The scholarships are for the academic year 1985-86 and consist of transportation abroad, an intensive language course of four to six weeks if necessary, tuition at the university of the student's choice and living expenses for 12 months.

Students who apply should be outgoing, independent and in the top 10 percent of their class. Some linguistic ability and the desire to learn a foreign language are necessary if a non-English speaking country is selected.

For more information, call Robert Layton at 561-0570.

Sons and daughters of Rotarians are not eligible.

Tri-C group to meet

One-to-One, Tri-C college women's group, will meet at 7 p.m. each Tuesday in the Campus Christian Center across from the TJC campus.

One-to-One provides weekly Bible study, support for students and engages in several service activities. The money from fund raisers will be used to benefit an orphanage.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday.

Board promotes Baker

The TJC Board of Trustees recently ratified the promotion of C.C. Baker Jr. to be associate vice president for development and college relations.

Baker, who was principal of John Tyler High School from 1974-82, was appointed to be director of development and college relations in October.

"We in Tyler have for some time recognized Mr. Baker's administrative and human relations skills," said TJC President Dr. Raymond M. Hawkins.

"It is appropriate at a time when Tyler Junior College is experiencing significant growth in enrollment and its educational programs that we take key steps to ensure the success of our endeavors," Hawkins said.

"One of those steps is to utilize Mr. Baker as the person in charge of the college's total development effort," he said.

"For more than 50 years Tyler Junior College has played a vital role in the growth and progress of Tyler and East Texas. I am pleased to be a part of the dynamic present and future of this outstanding college," Baker said.

Baker holds a bachelor of science in education and a master of education in public school administration from Texas Christian University. He completed an advanced educational administration program at Stephen F. Austin State University.

Baker was assistant coach and social studies teacher at Stripling Junior High School in Fort Worth.

He served as administrative assistant in the development department at TCU in 1963-64.

In the Tyler Independent School District, Baker was assistant principal at John Tyler, assistant principal at Dogan Junior High and head coach and social studies teacher at Hogg Junior High.

Museum presents rare art exhibit

The "Golden Age of Painting" exhibit will continue through Feb. 19 at Tyler Museum of Art.

The exhibit from the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Foundation of Houston includes Dutch, Flemish and German artists. The artists are Hieronymus Bosch, Lucas Cranach, Jacob van Ruisdael, Sir Anthony van Dyck and Sir Peter Paul Rubens.

"This quality of art is rarely displayed in Tyler and therefore should not be missed," said Museum Director James D. Weaver.

"The 'Gutenberg Bible' and 'A Golden Age of Painting' are two of the most impressive displays we have ever had," he said.

This collection represents the culmination of three years of intensive search and selective acquisition by the Foundation of works from private collections of art galleries throughout Europe and the United States.

Peddy dies

Funeral services were held Monday for Geology Instructor Adrian Jack Peddy who died Saturday of a sudden illness.

Peddy, 61, was born in Yantis, graduated from Texas Tech University and received his master's degree from East Texas State University. A World War II veteran, Peddy served with the U.S. Army Medical Corps in China.

Peddy had been a geologist in New Jersey and an independent oil operator, and had taught geology at TJC since 1963.

Survivors are: his wife, Counselor Mary Peddy, daughter Margaret Peddy Trinidad, sons Adrian Jr. and David.

Faculty regains parking

For the spring semester faculty will again have use of the lower Genecov parking lot, said Edwin E. Fowler, associate vice president and student affairs dean. Parking was opened to the students in the lower portion of the lot in October 1983 due to the construction on Pirtle Technology Center.

Ten additional visitor parking spaces have been added in the Student Center parking lot. These are not to be used by students, faculty or staff.

Students must have a valid parking permit posted on the outside, lower left corner of the rear window to park on campus. Having no permit could result in a fine.

Faculty parking is marked with blue signs and curbs. Students parking in these areas will be issued a warning or a fine up to $10.

Students parking in handicapped parking spaces without proper identification will be ticketed and fined. These fines run from $50 to $200.

COLLEGE MORNING--Representatives of senior colleges provided information for prospective transfer students from TJC.

8th ranked Ladies beat HCJC for 12th consecutive win

The Apache Ladies basketball team has run up an 18-2 season record and are 5-0 in conference play. They are ranked 8th by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Their 12th consecutive win came Jan. 18 with a victory over Henderson County Junior College. In that game four Ladies' players hit in double figures.

The Ladies played a crucial Texas Eastern Conference game with No. 2 ranked Angelina College last night.

"The year's team can compare with last year's team in every way except in experience," said Coach George Cox. The Ladies' team consists of 10 freshmen and three sophomores.

Coach Cox says the team needs to concentrate on patience and defense tactics.

Gina Eidson, 6-foot sophomore post who has been out since August following cancer surgery, has returned to the team.

The Ladies next game will be at 6 p.m. Saturday against Navarro College in Wagstaff Gym.

Cardinals nip Apaches

Henderson County's Michael Anderson scored on a tip-in feed from John Willhite with two seconds left last Wednesday to nip the Apaches 56-54.

The Cardinals improved their record to 16-4 and 4-3 in conference play, and the Apaches fell to 10-7 and 1-5 in the conference.

The Apaches played an aggressive defense lead by Freshman Wilford Howray, but it was not enough to compensate the offense's inconsistency. The Tribe had little success on inside plays toward the basket and had to settle for lower percentage outside shots.

"We played hard but we did not play smart," Assistant Coach Brad Springfield said.

Deon Alexander commanded TJC to a nine point surge late in the first half to take a 26-22 halftime lead. Alexander ended the match with a game high of 15 points. Howray added 11 for the Apaches but it was not enough to prevent another loss.

Apaches host Navarro, hope to avenge loss

The Apache men's basketball team hosts the Navarro Bulldogs at 8 p.m. Saturday in Wagstaff Gym.

The Apaches, highlighted by point guard and leading scorer Deon Alexander, hope to avenge their early season loss to Navarro in which they were outscored 83-53.

Alexander, who played his senior year at Central High in Omaha, Neb., averaged 15 points a game. He was named to the all-metro team and participated in two all-star games.

The key to beating Navarro, "is to play with confidence and become closer as a team," Alexander said.

In the previous meeting the Apaches' timing and execution were poor. But the Apaches have had two months to work out the rough spots and prepare for the "revenge match."

Now with eight conference games to go the Apaches' intensity is high. Every game is important because the conference is so evenly balanced.

Lloyd Price predicts a TJC blow-out because Navarro lost one top player and because of the revenge factor. The Apaches feel more comfortable on the court now than earlier this season, the 6-foot-6 freshman said. Price is third in both rebounds and points for the Apaches, averaging 11 points per game.

The leading rebounder for the Apaches is 6-foot-6 forward Johnny Mumphrey. He averages 12 points and eight rebounds per game.

If Alexander and Mumphrey can generate a strong offense this time the Tribe should scalp Navarro.
